THE COLONEL DRAWS A KNIFE.

Finally the colonel found his way outside the room, and when he returned to the door he was told by Bailiff Cole that he would have to wait outside the court room like other persons, but he persisted in entering and when the bailiff remonstrated with him he became angry and a fight was imminent. As quick as a flash the colonel had his hand in his hip pocket as though he was going to draw a revolver, when several officers rushed at him and they had their hands full to handle him. Instead of drawing a pistol he drew a knife, but could not use it, as the officers disarmed him.

When the excitement had subsided Judge Kimball fined Col. Royall $20 for contempt.

Suit Against the District. The First National Bank of New York, by Mr. Enoch Totten, today entered a suit at law against the District of Columbia to recover $43,000 with interest from 1872, the total amounting to about $100,000. The bank in that year advanced the District a large sum of money on certain tax lien certificates issued for special improvements, and among those sent to the bank were certificates against the Washing-ton and Georgetown Railroad Company to the amount named. To enforce the payment of these the bank brought suit, but the certificates were declared non-enforcible and the bank now Death of Mr. B. F. Cutter. But little more than a week ago Mr. B. F. New York last night Hon. Henry W. Blair, the new minister to China, was given a dinner and new minister to China, was given a dinner and reception in anticipation of his early expected departure for the scene of his new field of labor. About twenty-five gentlemen were present. Col. Shepard proposed the health of Mr. Blair, who responded in remarks relating to his mission. The Japanese minister was also called out and surprised all with the clearness and correctness of his English. Speeches were also made by Hon. Wm. M. Evarts, Senator Spooner of Wisconsin, Hon. Roswell P. Flower, Judge Dillon, ex-Senator T. C. Platt, Col. Shopard, Cornelius N. Bliss, Everett Frazer, consul general of Cores, and others. A reception followed the dinner, which lasted until midnight.

A brilliant company of the lovers of Shakes, pearean literature met last night at Prof. Cabell's residence, 1407 Massachusetta avenue, to celebrate the three hundred and twenty-seventh anniversary of the birth of the poet and the twenty-first of the organization of the Shakespeare Club, the oldest of Washington's literary and dramatic societies. The large lecture room was filled at an early hour and at 9 o'clock the exercises were opened with an address, appropriate to the occasion, by the president of the club, Mr. E. B. Hay, which was well received. Mr. Chas. E. Rice sang a solo, Miss Amy Leavitt played upon the piano and Mr. C. E. West sang, after which Mr. Charles Richards Dodge read an original poem appropriate to the occasion. The following scenes from Shakespeare's works were presented in an admirable manner:

"Much Ado About Nothing" (act 1, scene 1)—Benedick, Mr. Albert Le Breton: Beatrice, Mrs. Lily Carr: Leonato, Mr. J. T. Cocker, and Claudio, Mr. L. S. Bacon.

"As You Like It" (act 3. scene 3)—Touchstone, Mr. S. C. Elliott; William, Mr. W. C. Stierlin, and Audrey, Miss Harriet Hollowell.

St. Elizabeth cemetery lies on a heavily wooded slope in the southwest part of the asylum grounds and commands a wide stretch of Washington, Virginia and the Potomac.

A DECORATION DAY CELEBRATION.

A GENEROUS OFFER. A certain lady has notified Rev. W. G. Davenport of her willingness to contribute $5,000 to ward building a new Episcopal church, provided the congregation subscribe a like sum. The offer is a standing one. Eleven hundred dollars are already accredited to the building fund and $900 more are pledged. The required amount, it is believed, will be quickly raised. PERSONAL.

COMING LINTHICUM INSTITUTE COMMENCEMENT. The pupils of the Linthicum Institute, under the direction of Mr. E. B. Hay, are making extensive preparations for their annual commencement and the varied program that has erly $3. been arranged promises much pleasure. The prizes, consisting of $50, $30 and $20 in gold, are distributed by an impartial board, who are governed by the average yearly record of the student, and for fifteen years Hon. Josiah Dent, the president of the board, has on the closing night delivered to the lucky ones these rewards of merit with many fatherly words of advice in which he hoped for their future success in life. STILL ANXIOUS ABOUT THE POLICE STATION SITE. Many citizens fear that the choice of the committee who inspected the various sites offered for the proposed new police station has resulted in the acceptance of the Gay street lots, and once again they strenuously object to power to prevent the erection in the heart of the town of a place that is both objectionable to the residents and a serious drawback to the value of the adjacent property. CATTLE MARKET.
